Cookie and local storage notice

Effective from: 6 November 2026

In short

levikaldor.hu uses no cookies. That is why there is no cookie banner and nothing for you to consent to.

What does your browser store?

Name	Type	Purpose	Duration
kl-theme	localStorage (not a cookie)	remembers your light/dark theme choice, only if you use the theme button	until you clear it in your browser
kl-quote-draft	sessionStorage (not a cookie)	keeps what you filled in on the project builder, so it is not lost if you reload the page or step back; created only if you use the project builder	until you close the browser tab

These entries stay on your device, are never sent to me and cannot identify you. Because they are stored at your explicit request (pressing the button, or using the project builder) and are needed only for the feature you asked for, they fall under the exception in Article 5(3) of the ePrivacy Directive (2002/58/EC) for storage needed for a function you explicitly requested (here, customising the display and putting a project together), and so need no consent; section 155(4) of Hungarian Act C of 2003 is to be read in line with the Directive.

The project builder draft is kept until you close the browser tab, and is deleted at once when you use "Start over" or after a successful submission. It reaches me only if you send it with the "Send quote request" button.

Third parties

The website loads nothing from other servers: no analytics, ads, embedded videos, social media buttons or external fonts. So no third party can set cookies either.

Admin area

The non-public admin area, used only by the operator, uses sign-in cookies (Supabase authentication) to keep the operator signed in, until sign-out or expiry. They are strictly necessary and do not affect visitors.

If this changes

Should I ever introduce cookies or technology that needs consent, I will first inform you here and in the privacy policy, and use it only with your consent.
